• After considering her living space, lifestyle, and budget, I suggested Focal's Bird all-in-one package. This $1199 system, which won our Product of the Year Award in 2012, includes an amplifier with an integral down-firing woofer (the "Power Bird"), a pair of satellite speakers, and a wireless dongle to stream music from a portable device to the Bird.

Mark and I mounted the Bird's satellites to the wall with the supplied hardware. We concealed the speaker cables by drilling holes in the wall and running the cables on the back side of the wall, and then hiding the cables in a stick-on cable channel. Painting the channel the same color of the wall made it less intrusive. The Power Bird was mounted vertically over the AC outlet, leaving an installation with no visible wires.

“THE RESULTING SOUND QUALITY FAR EXCEEDED EVEN MY OWN EXPECTATIONS” — RH

• The resulting sound quality far exceeded even my own expectations. In addition to a warm and full tonal balance, the satellites and the woofer integrated beautifully, with no discontinuity at the transition. The treble was remarkably smooth, and the midrange was open and uncolored. As a result, the Bird didn't produce the listening fatigue that plagues many entry-level systems. The hardware on the wall was replaced by a fully developed soundstage that made centrally placed images hang in space between the speakers. Daryl was thrilled beyond measure; the look on her face as she listened for the first time in the sweet spot was worth the effort. I have no doubt that music listening will become more central to her life. During the next few days of our visit the Bird filled the house with music, and everyone was thrilled.

• I learned that the Bird is not only capable of real musicality, but that it is also superbly engineered in every way.

• My experience with Focal's Bird shows that high-performance audio comes in all shapes, sizes, and price points. Daryl asked incredulously how such a modestly priced system could sound so good.

• If you have a friend, neighbor, or relative who wants a good-sounding, unobtrusive, lifestyle-friendly, and affordable music system, Focal's Bird is hard to beat.
